CLEMENCEAU ASKS WORLD TOLERANCE AND FULL JUSTICE

STRAZBURG, Nov. 5. (By the Associated Press)—Premier Clemenceau's speech here yesterday, considered his valdictory to France, rose much above party politics. It was for the most part a plea for universal tolerance and social justice, and an appeal to the working man throughout the world to resume labor's pre-war method and "work."

"The world's only salvation from the social and economic chaos from which it now is emerging is 'work,'" said M. Clemenceau.

Thus with characteristic brevity, the premier found a solution for the many problems which now confront the democracies of the world.

M. Clemenceau's evolution toward closer relations between the state and the church was quite discernible, as he remarked:

"Religious peace must be assured, and liberty of conscience must rule."

He sketched the formidable enterprise undertaken by the peace conference, describing the creation of new states and new frontiers, permitting the newly born democracies national and economic life.

"This is not enough," he said. "An attempt must be made to establish a peace of justice under the auspices of the league of nations."

Dealing with social organization, M. Clemenceau declared no government could possibly prevent its people from governing themselves, but said government must be based on public order and respect of individual rights.

As for the Bolsheviks, said Premier Clemenceau, "there can be no discussion between them and the public. It is a simple question of force. In claiming for freedom for themselves, they want to impose upon others a terrible and absolute dictatorship."

After a few contemptuous phrases concerning Bolshevik specialists, France, the premier turned to other problems. Finance was one of them, the speaker declaring France's financial position must be consolidated by fresh taxation, by strict application of existing laws and the proper collection of existing import duties. He said internal loans would reduce the amount of notes in circulation and advocated reinvestment of French savings in France in the future, rather than abroad.

The premier's solution for disputes between capital and labor was co-operation and better housing and free education for the working man.

Delroy Exposes Crystal Gazers And Other Tricks

An expose of the tricks of the trade indulged in by mediums, mind readers, phrenologists, crystal gazers and seers, by Arthur Delroy, president of the Psychic Club of New York, at a lecture in the Goodwyn Institute Tuesday night, proved highly attractive to Memphisans. Hundreds of people were turned away from the big auditorium and standing room was not to be had.

Writing questions and answering them without knowing from whom they came, suspending bodies in the air and other so-called mysteries were explained in detail by Mr. Delroy and at the conclusion of his lecture he was kept busy for some time by women exhibiting their palms to ascertain for what they were best suited.

The lecture was to have begun at 8 o'clock, but long here that time the capacity of the auditorium was taxed and Mr. Delroy started his lecture at 8 o'clock.

Teach Your Children to Play Some Musical Instrument

But first teach them to love Music so that their music study may be "not on a treadmill, but a journey into a world of beauty."

THE ability to play the piano, the violin, the guitar or the mandolin is an asset all through life, a constant source of joy and satisfaction to ourselves and an insurance of friends wherever we may go.

The man who can play is the life of the party, while the man or the woman who has not been taught to love and appreciate Music is the load, for sooner or later every social gathering gravitates to the piano or the phonograph.

This is so today, and will be increasingly true tomorrow. Educators are realizing that Music has become more of a factor in the daily life of the people and have accorded it a higher place in the curriculum of the schools. Dr. P. P. Claxton, United States commissioner of education says: "After the beginning of reading, writing, arithmetic and geometry, Music has greater practical value than any other subject taught in the school."

Philanthropists and civic authorities likewise recognize that music is a boon intended for all the people and are endeavoring to bring it within the reach of them all.

You, however, are responsible for the welfare and proper education of your own children.

Make sure that into their lives will come the blessing of Music. Give them the education which will bring them the greatest joy, happiness and comfort. Give them music as a companion through life and you will give them a friend and asset of inestimable value.

SYRIAN SOLDIER SEEKS TO SAVE HIS BROTHER

CRYSTAL SPRINGS, Miss., Nov. 5.—His brother shot to death his sweetheart.

Now he is seeking to save the man from the gallows.

This, says A. G. Hawle, a young Anyrian of Jackson, is his duty at the present.

The boy says he volunteered to serve his country during the war, and went overseas with the Rainbow division. He is wearing on his breast four medals which, he says, were presented to him for gallantry in action by the United States, Italy, France and Great Britain. He says that he has been notified that he will soon receive two additional medals, which will be awarded him by the Belgian government.

Back of all these military honors is his story of his feats on the battlefields of France and Belgium. He is said to have killed a total of 160 Germans during the war, but his most conspicuous act is told as that of rescuing his captain under fire, when the latter had been wounded. It is said that his armor was pierced with 32 bullets.

Hawle is seeking to raise money enough to fight his brother's case in the supreme court. His brother was convicted in the courts of Brandon, Miss., some time ago and has appealed his case. Hawle claims that his brother was sentenced at the time of the killing, and claims that he has always been in such a state.

He was in the city for several days, and while here received quite a sum of money from Crystal Springs people.

WEST ARKANSAS COAL FIELDS ARE PEACEABLE

FORT SMITH, Ark., Nov. 5.—The West Arkansas coal field remains absolutely quiet. All miners are out and all mines closed. None of the operators of more than a hundred mines are making effort to operate their mines. Both operators and miners, apparently, are sitting tight and awaiting for a settlement of the strike issue in other fields. The supply of coal is negligible in this city, but there is no grave concern. Ninety-seven per cent of domestic and industrial fuel is natural gas. This supply exceeds consumption by a hundred per cent.
